IPAD: the project to follow

IPAD is a new Erasmus+ project that will run until September 2025 and joins together partners from Austria, Ireland, Portugal, Spain, and Turkey. Its main goal is to provide adult educators with a set of innovative digital resources to upskill adult parents on both social media literacy and Internet safety.

Over the next months, partners will work together to co-create a collection of competences in social media literacy and Internet safety, develop an ICT-based educational tool for adult educators, and draft a set of guidelines for seamless transfer and replication of the project results by interested parties.

IPAD kicks-off in Tenerife

The project kick-started with a partners meeting this April, in Tenerife, Spain. There, partners discussed main tasks and responsibilities, and next steps for the upcoming months.
